Job Posting Analysis

Nakul Padalkar

Table of contents

Advertised Salary Trend 1
Job Postings Regional Breakdown 1
Unique Job Postings Trend 1
Job Postings by City (US Map) 2

Advertised Salary Trend

This graph illustrates the trend of advertised salaries over time. The data shows fluctuations in salaries, indicating how job postings in different periods have varied compensation offers.

```
Unable to display output for mime type(s): text/html
```

```
Unable to display output for mime type(s): text/html
```

Job Postings Regional Breakdown

This bar chart presents the number of unique job postings across different states. It highlights which regions have the most job openings, offering insight into geographic demand for professionals.

```
Unable to display output for mime type(s): text/html
```

Unique Job Postings Trend

This line chart shows the number of unique job postings over time. It helps track hiring trends and can be useful in understanding market fluctuations and job demand in different months.

```
Unable to display output for mime type(s): text/html
```

Job Postings by City (US Map)

This map visualization shows the total number of job postings by state in the United States. Darker shades indicate higher job postings, giving insight into which states have the most demand for job seekers.

```
Unable to display output for mime type(s): text/html
```